

Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies
And the Lemann Institute for Brazilian Studies
And the Department of Anthropology
Presents

ROBERTO DAMATTA

Professor Emeritus, University of Notre Dame and Professor, PUC do Rio de Janeiro

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 3PM – 5PM
109 Davenport Hall, 607 S. Mathews Ave.

WORKSHOP: ON DAMATTA'S ANTHROPOLOGICAL TRAJECTORIES

This is a multi-topic Workshop. Roberto DaMatta will be discussing:

1. His last work just about to be published: "Fé em Deus e Pé na Tábua: or why traffic makes Brazil mad"
2. A little biographical exposure of his long trajectory between several "anthropologies" and inventing some out of sight objects of investigation within the discipline like the "Do you know who you're talk to?" and Brazilian Carnival.
3. Discuss the important point of local level versus country level Anthropology.